David Treen — Governor

John T. King — Secretary Of Corrections

LOUISIANA DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS

May 31, 1983

Governor David C. Treen
State Capitol
Baton Rouge, Louisiana

Dear Governor Treen:

As Secretary of Corrections, it is a privilege to submit this Statistical Report covering the fiscal years of 1979-80, 1980-81 and 1981-82. It is hoped that this publication will provide you and the members of the Legislature with updated information about the growth and accomplishments of the Louisiana Department of Corrections.

As your appointee, my objective was to initiate sound management techniques within the Department of Corrections which would reduce the operating cost, while still fulfilling the mandated responsibilities. I have been committed to managing the Department in the most cost-effective manner possible, while protecting the public's safety, providing constitutional housing for the offenders in our custody and providing the incarcerated offenders with the opportunity to realize their potential through rehabilitative programs.

With your support, the Department of Corrections has been able to realize progress in accomplishing this goal, despite the rapidly increasing number of individuals being incarcerated. The taxpayers of the State of Louisiana are the direct beneficiaries of the millions of dollars that have been saved through the better utilization of housing space within our prisons.

With continued support from you and the Legislature, the Department of Corrections will be able to carry through this commitment of cost-effective management.

Sincerely,

John T. King
Secretary of Corrections

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

The SECRETARY OF CORRECTIONS is appointed by the Governor and serves as the chief administrative officer of the Department. The Secretary of Corrections is responsible for the operation and control of all functions and programs within the Department. The Secretary formulates and promulgates rules and regulations and determines policies, regarding management, personnel and total operations.

As the Department of Corrections' chief administrator, the Secretary is responsible for the work of approximately 5000 employees, the incarceration of more than 10,000 adult and juvenile offenders and the supervision of approximately 20,000 parolees and probationers.

Although the Undersecretary and the Assistant Secretaries are also appointed by the Governor, these administrative heads of the different branches within the Department report directly to the Secretary of Corrections.

Within the Office of the Secretary are the following personnel and services:

The DEPUTY SECRETARY is appointed by the Secretary and performs special duties and functions, as assigned by the Secretary. Specifically, the Deputy Secretary is charged with the responsibility of hearing and deciding all third-level employee grievances. The Deputy Secretary also handles all Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) matters related to the Department.

The CORRECTIONS INTERNAL AFFAIRS Officers serve as independent and objective investigators of offender or employee concerns. The C.I.A. Officers file their reports directly with the Secretary of Corrections who assigns their investigations. Additionally, the C.I.A. Officers are responsible for assisting the Deputy Secretary with third-level employee grievances and aiding the Attorney General's Office with Department of Corrections' employee cases that are heard before the Civil Service Commission.

The LEGAL SERVICES staff provides the Secretary with counsel on all departmental matters requiring legal review. The staff attorneys also act a liaison with the Attorney General's Office, which is responsible for representing the Department in all litigation. The Legal Services staff additionally is responsible for drafting legislation affecting the Department.

EDUCATION personnel within the Office of the Secretary are responsible for developing the system-wide adult and juvenile education programs and monitoring their operations at the various institutions. This section acts as a liaison with the Department of Education and the various Vocational-Technical Schools in the state which provide programs for the incarcerated offenders within the corrections system.

The INTERNAL AUDIT SECTION provides independent audit functions for the Secretary of Corrections, including the auditing of not only financial records but of various departmental inventories and services. The Internal Auditors also are responsible for checking financial accounting procedures for compliance with state and departmental rules and regulations.

MANAGEMENT
FINANCE

The OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND FINANCE (OMF) is responsible for the organization, direction and control of all departmental matters pertaining to accounting and budget control, procurement and contract management, management and program analysis, data processing, personnel management and grants management.

The UNDERSECRETARY OF CORRECTIONS directs the operations of the Office of Management and Finance and, as such, is the Department's chief fiscal and accounting officer.

The six (6) major operating sections within the Office of Management and Finance are:

ACCOUNTING: The Director of Accounting supervises the work of this section, the operations of which include receipt and disbursement of all Department of Corrections' funds and grants management. The Accounting Section also manages the Inmate Banking System and provides accounting services for the various Inmate Welfare Funds, Canteen operations and Agri-Business (Prison Enterprises) operations.

BUDGET CONTROL: Under the direct supervision of the Budget Control Officer, this section is responsible for the annual preparation of the Department's twelve operating budgets and the monitoring and control of these budgets throughout the fiscal year. Other areas of responsibility include purchasing, contract management, property control, insurance and food services management.

PERSONNEL: This section, under the supervision of the Department's Personnel Administrator, directs all personnel management programs for the Department including the systematic review and processing of all personnel actions. Other areas of responsibility are payroll, classification, recruiting, position description maintenance and employee relations. Also included in this section is Training, which is responsible for development and implementation of system-wide training programs and operation of the security officers' Training Academy at Angola.

RESEARCH AND STATISTICS: Collection, analysis and dissemination of all statistical information for the Department, especially as it pertains to offender classification and movement, are the primary responsibilities of this section. Currently, this staff maintains two automated systems, the Corrections and Justice Unified Network (CAJUN) and Juvenile Institutions Records Management Systems (JIRMS), and provides for system-wide records management and archives.

CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE: Preparation, control and monitoring of the Department's capital outlay budget and construction programs are the chief duties of this section. Additionally, this section is charged with ensuring compliance with all building, life safety and sanitation codes for construction and renovation projects at the Department's twelve institutions. The electrical, mechanical and civil engineering staff also provides technical assistance to the various institutional maintenance staffs.

PROGRAM EVALUATION: This new section, created in Fiscal Year 1981-82, is responsible for management and program analysis within the Department. This staff works closely with the Internal Auditors, within the Office of the Secretary, in providing programmatic audit capabilities.

ADULT SERVICES

The purpose of the OFFICE OF ADULT SERVICES is to carry out the courts' dispositional orders concerning adult offenders. The Office of Adult Services is responsible for all functions relating to the operation and maintenance of all adult correctional institutions and the Probation and Parole system for adult offenders. *

The four (4) major operation sections within the Office of Adult Services are:

CLASSIFICATION: This section is responsible for various functions relating to the care and placement of offenders within the Department of Corrections; specifically,

- the transfer of offenders within the Department of Corrections and the intake of state prisoners residing in local facilities upon availability of bed-space.

- the supervision/administration of the sheriff's maintenance program whereby offenders are assigned to the custody of local sheriffs to carry out specific maintenance duties for that jurisdiction.

- matters regarding detainers and extradition proceedings.

OPERATIONS: This section is responsible for:

- the furlough program for the Department of Corrections' adult institutions as provided in accordance with state statutes and in conjunction with departmental regulations.

- the work release program of the Department of Corrections as established by departmental and legislative mandates.

- the pre-classification process which involves the collection of documents and records on offenders sentenced to the Department of Corrections and housed in local facilities.

MEDICAL: The medical section determines the need and type of various health care services in adult institutions. The health care programs of each institution are periodically monitored to insure compliance with federal, state, and departmental regulations.

- this section advises the classification section in terms of the inter-institutional transfer process for compliance with medical needs of the offender as he moves throughout the system.

- medical furloughs for offenders are processed by this section for submission to the Secretary of Corrections.

MENTAL HEALTH: This section is obligated to evaluate the mental health of Louisiana's offender population and to perform mental health evaluation of work release and transfer applicants.

* See Pages 28-35 for information regarding the Adult Probation & Parole System.

ADULT INSTITUTIONS

Any person convicted of a felony and sentenced to hard labor is committed to the Department of Corrections. Until a change in the law, which became effective in 1982, a convicted offender remained in the parish jail until his or her appeals were exhausted. The Department of Corrections pays a sheriff $18.25 per day for each offender committed to the Department, but awaiting transfer to the Adult Reception and Diagnostic Center.

LOUISIANA STATE PENITENTIARY, the largest prison in the state, is a maximum security prison. It is located on an 18,000-acre tract, along the Mississippi River near St. Francisville, which formerly was the site of a sugar plantation. The prison was moved from Baton Rouge to Angola shortly after 1900. Offenders are housed in nine separate units within the prison compound.

DIXON CORRECTIONAL INSTITUTE at Jackson opened in 1976 as the first unit in the plan to comply with the 1975 federal court order to decentralize the state's prison population. The medium security prison was opened in renovated buildings that once were a part of East Louisiana State Hospital.

HUNT CORRECTIONAL CENTER is a medium security facility at St. Gabriel. Construction was completed in 1979. Half of the prison is maximum security and houses the Adult Reception and Diagnostic Center (ARDC), which is the central receiving unit for all offenders entering the Department of Corrections. In ARDC, persons are tested medically, psychologically, vocationally and educationally before assigned to a particular prison.

LOUISIANA CORRECTIONAL INSTITUTE FOR WOMEN at St. Gabriel is the state's only prison for female offenders. It was opened in 1973. Until 1961, female offenders were housed in a unit within the Angola compound, but a change in state law--calling for the separation of male and female offenders--brought about the moving of the women to an existing prison facility at St. Gabriel until construction was completed on the new institution.

LOUISIANA CORRECTIONAL AND INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL at DeQuincy is a minimum security prison for first offenders and others, suitable for vocational and academic training, who have less than eight (8) years to serve on their sentences. The facility was opened in 1958 in order to separate young first offenders from the prison population at Angola.

WADE CORRECTIONAL CENTER at Haynesville is a medium security prison which opened in December of 1980. It is the state's only prison north of Alexandria and medium-security offenders from North Louisiana are assigned there in order to maintain their family ties and be closer to their court of commitment.

WORK TRAINING FACILITY/SOUTH (Jackson Barracks) is a work release center in New Orleans. It opened in 1976 for non-violent and non-drug offenders with less than five (5) years to serve on their sentences. Most offenders assigned there work at the Louisiana National Guard's Jackson Barracks.

WORK TRAINING FACILITY/NORTH in Pineville is located adjacent to the National Guard's Camp Beauregard. The minimum security prison was completed in 1978 and the offenders housed there are assigned to National Guard officials for maintenance of the military facility. When an offender is within six (6) months of his release, he can be granted work release status for employment in the public and private sector.

WOODWORTH FORESTRY CAMP is a part of the Work Training Facility operation. It houses minimum security first offenders, who work in crews, improving timber production in the state forest and maintaining the lake and recreational areas.

STATE POLICE BARRACKS houses minimum security offenders, who have been requested by State Police for their individual special skills. Offenders, being considered for assignment at the Police Barracks, are carefully screened because of the low security environment. Several of the offenders assigned here work at the Governor's Mansion and the Department of Corrections' Headquarters.

WASHINGTON PARISH CORRECTIONAL COMPLEX is a medium security prison scheduled to open in the spring of 1983 near Bogalusa.

VOCATIONAL AND EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS

ADULT INSTITUTIONS

Educational opportunities are provided for all offenders within the Department of Corrections, on a voluntary basis. Most classes follow the adult basic education format and an offender can take whatever classes necessary to earn a General Education Development (GED) diploma.

Educationally disadvantaged offenders can receive basic education courses through the federally-funded Chapter One program, and the Louisiana Department of Education's Special School District #1 provides special education classes for handicapped offenders. In addition to correspondence courses in which an offender may enroll, the adult institutions can offer college courses, which are funded through federal grants or the Department of Health and Human Resources' Vocational Rehabilitation program.

Through the auspices of the state's various vocational-technical schools, which are operated by the Department of Education, vocational training programs are offered to all offenders interested in learning a specialized skill. The variety of vocational training programs within the adult system is outlined below.

DIVISION OF PROBATION AND PAROLE

The DIVISION OF PROBATION AND PAROLE was created in 1960, when Louisiana adopted the "Model Probation System," recommended by the National Council on Crime and Delinquency. The function of probation was transferred from the Department of Public Welfare to the Department of Institutions and was combined with the function of parole, creating a unified probation and parole system for adult offenders. In 1968, the same year that the Department of Institutions was renamed the Department of Corrections, Louisiana adopted the "Model Parole System" which was recommended by the National Council on Crime and Delinquency. This action meant that Louisiana now had both a model probation and a model parole system, functioning together as one.

In 1981, Louisiana became one of the first states to have its Adult Probation and Parole System accredited by the American Correctional Association and today is still one of the few states with an accredited system.

The Division of Probation and Parole is responsible for the Program of Adult Supervision and Investigation, which can be broken down into various sub-programs. The major goal of the program is to provide for the safety of the citizens of the state by monitoring the actions of individuals who have been convicted of criminal activity and who have been placed on probation, parole, work release or good time release.

The following is a brief description of each sub-program and its activities:

I. SUPERVISION - The Division of Probation and Parole is responsible for supervising adult offenders, released in this state, or transferred to this state under the terms of the Interstate Compact, an agreement among the states to exchange supervision services.

   A. Probation supervision is performed by the field staff of the Division of Probation and Parole. Clientele for probation supervision is received from the courts in Louisiana or from other states as transfers under the Interstate Compact. This activity requires compiling and maintaining accurate case history records, developing and monitoring of supervision plans, interviewing and counselling probationers and family members, making referrals to community-based resources, enforcing the conditions of probation set by the court, conducting preliminary hearings, testifying at court revocation hearings, and apprehending, arresting and transporting of probation violators.

   B. Parole supervision is performed by the field staff of the Division of Probation and Parole. Clientele for parole supervision is received from the Board of Parole or from other states as transfers under the Interstate Compact. This activity is similar to that of probation supervision, except that the body of jurisdiction is the Parole Board rather than the courts.

   C. Work Release supervision is performed by the field staff of the Division of Probation and Parole. It involves primarily the supervision of adult offenders within the Department of Corrections who are placed on work release and are housed in facilities, such as half-way houses and parish jails, not controlled by the Department of Corrections. This involves helping the offender find and hold employment; monitoring the offender's progress while in the facility and on the job, seeing that the offender's basic needs are satisfied, i.e., food, clothing, medical care, enforcing the conditions of work release, apprehending, arresting and transporting offenders who violate their work release agreement, conducting preliminary hearings, and submitting detailed reports to the Office of Adult Services.

D. Good time release supervision is performed by the field staff of the Division of Probation and Parole. It involves the supervision of all adult offenders released from the Department of Corrections' facilities by virtue of good-time. Supervision is similar to that of parole in that the Board of Parole determines the conditions under which the offender is supervised and whether or not the offender is to be revoked if he or she violates the conditions of release. The major difference between this activity and parole supervision is that release on good-time supervision is automatic and does not require action by the Parole Board other than establishing the conditions of supervision.

II. INVESTIGATIONS are performed by the field staff of the Division of Probation and Parole. Major requests, received from the courts, are pre-sentence, post-sentence, pre-parole and pre-exit investigations. Clemency investigations are conducted for the Pardon Board and first offender applicants, convicted after January, 1975, are investigated for the Governor's Office. Preliminary hearing investigations of parole violators are required for the possible return of offenders into the state institutions. Other investigations include those received from other states, through the Interstate Compact, regarding possible transfer or assistance in obtaining background information on adult offenders who may have lived or committed offenses in Louisiana. Similar investigation requests are received from various district probation and parole offices, regarding transfer of supervision between districts and background information of offenders. The field staff also investigates work release candidates.

III. SUPPORT AND ADMINISTRATION activities include the extradition of all adult offenders from out-of-state; the discharge of all offenders who are committed to the Department of Corrections, but who are housed in parish jails, on parole, good-time, or full-time completion; and determination of credit for time served on parole violators who are revoked.

Administration of this program on a statewide level is carried out by a Probation and Parole Headquarters, four regional offices and 18 district field offices located throughout the state.

This sub-program includes the issuance of First Offender Pardons, for felons convicted after January 1, 1975, if the offender has been investigated and determined to be eligible.

JUVENILE SERVICES

The purpose of the OFFICE OF JUVENILE SERVICES is to carry out the courts' dispositional orders concerning juvenile offenders. Central to this purpose is the protection of the public and the provision of a safe, humane, caring environment, with access to services, for the offender. Guided by four basic principles, juvenile corrections is obligated to provide:

- control and care (provide for the degree of control required for public protection, as determined by the court, and provide an environment that will enhance, rather than inhibit, normal growth and development of the offender);

- least possible restriction of liberty (the liberty of an offender is restricted only to the degree necessary to carry out the purpose of the court's order);

- fairness and legal rights (programs for offenders are characterized by fairness in all procedures and by a careful adherence to legal rights);

- accountability (accountable on three levels: to the courts for carrying out the dispositional order; to the public, through the Legislature, for the implementation of statutory mandates and expenditure of public funds; to the offender for the provision of a safe, caring environment and services geared to individual needs).

The Office of Juvenile Services has a two-fold mission: to act in behalf of the public's safety by preventing and deterring delinquent/criminal behavior in those juvenile offenders committed to the Department of Corrections, and to invest its assets in the rehabilitation of the juvenile offender and in any enterprise that will promote the offender's well-being.

In order to fuse these two into one common ideal, the Office of Juvenile Services coordinates and monitors programs and operations of the Juvenile Reception and Diagnostic Center and the four Louisiana Training Institutes. The goal of each of the five juvenile correctional facilities located within the state is to provide effective, efficient services and operations that will promote the well-being of both offenders and staff in the fulfillment of judicial mandates and in the maintenance of ethical and professional standards of practice, consistent with the need for public safety.

At each of the Louisiana Training Institutes (LTI), this goal is realized through programs of therapeutic intervention, education, recreation, work ethics and religion. Volunteer services, permeating all programs, are provided by interested individuals and groups from the community. Incarceration involves custody (secure confinement) and care (clothing, food and medical care). Administrative efficiency is developed through accounting, purchasing, maintenance and personnel services.

JUVENILE INSTITUTIONS

In cases which a child has been adjudicated delinquent, the Court may commit the child under age 13 to the Department of Corrections if the reason for adjudication of delinquency was for the commission of an offense that would have been a felony if committed by an adult. A child adjudicated delinquent before his 13th birthday may not be confined beyond his 18th birthday. A child over the age of 13 but under age 17, and adjudicated delinquent, may be committed to the Department of Corrections. If the child is adjudicated delinquent and is over age 13, he may be committed for a maximum period of confinement, not to exceed his 21st birthday.

The JUVENILE RECEPTION AND DIAGNOSTIC CENTER at Baker, in accordance with Act 353 of 1970, serves as a central intake and diagnostic unit for male and female juvenile offenders committed to the Department of Corrections. The specific goals of the Center are to formulate a diagnostic assessment and treatment framework (based on medical, psychological, psychiatric, social and educational evaluation); to provide receiving facilities and the courts with guidelines for use in their on-going rehabilitation efforts; and to use the results of the diagnostic assessment as a basis for assignment to the Louisiana Training Institutes and Special Treatment Units which best meet the individual rehabilitation needs of the offender. The Juvenile Reception and Diagnostic Center also operates and maintains the Juvenile Adjustment Center, a unit designed for 36 aggressive, assaultive males whose behavior demostrated they were unable to cope in a less restricted environment of the Louisiana Training Institutes.

LOUISIANA TRAINING INSTITUTE-BALL, the only juvenile correctional institution for female offenders, was created by Act 175 of the 1926 Louisiana Legislature. LTI-Ball operates a special treatment unit for 14 female offenders exhibiting hostile, aggressive and assaultive behavior.

LOUISIANA TRAINING INSTITUTE-BRIDGE CITY, housing the youngest juvenile offenders in the correctional system, was establised by Act 452 of the 1970 Regular Session of the Louisiana Legislature. LTI-Bridge City provides intensive residential treatment for 17 acting out and emotionally disturbed offenders in Bridge-House.

LOUISIANA TRAINING INSTITUTE-EAST BATON ROUGE, created by Act 150 of the 1928 Legislature, provides specialized services for several target populations. Designed to meet the special needs of 25 mentally retarded offenders, INSTEP (Intensive Student Training Education Process) provides these offenders with training in adequate social skills and acceptable behavior commensurate with their level of intellectual functioning. Our House accommodates 25 offenders who have demonstrated aggressive, acting out behaviors indicative of various degrees of emotional disturbances, but who are not appropriate for hospitalization. The Substance Abuse Treatment Unit provides intensive treatment for 25 offenders with a focus on prevention of further substance use and abuse. The Juvenile Training Academy addresses the special needs and problems of 25 older juvenile offenders. Adapt, a work-release vocational training program for 24 offenders, 17 years and older, emphasizes skills development.

LOUISIANA TRAINING INSTITUTE-MONROE was established in 1904 by Act 173 of the Louisiana Legislature. In addition to the general population, LTI-Monroe operates three dormitories for offenders who have reached "honor status," providing a testing ground for readiness for release from secure confinement.

*Louisiana Training Institute-Ball is the Department's only juvenile institution for girls. The population of this facility is only about half that of the other institutions; but since the same number of support staff is necessary for the efficient operation of a facility, the average cost per day at LTI-Ball is significantly higher.

AGRI-BUSINESS

OFFICE OF AGRI-BUSINESS

The OFFICE OF AGRI-BUSINESS was established by the Legislature in 1950 as a revolving-fund operation, charged with supervising and maintaining all prison industrial operations and selected farming units.*

Under the supervision of Department of Corrections' personnel, incarcerated offenders perform the work involved in the various agricultural and industrial operations. Incentive pay, ranging from 2¢ to 5¢ an hour, is paid to incarcerated offenders.

INDUSTRIES

The following is a brief synopsis of each prison industry.

The METAL FABRICATION PLANT, commonly referred to as the "Tag Plant," is the oldest of Louisiana's prison industries. Started at Angola in the 1930's, the Tag Plant manufactures license plates; however, the license plate is not the only product of this diversified production unit where approximately 70 offenders are employed to produce metal products from sheering and welding metal. This plant also produces beds and lockers utilized by the Department and other state agencies such as East Louisiana State Hospital in Jackson and political subdivisions such as parish jails. The ever-increasing number of offenders incarcerated in both state and parish correctional facilities has created an increased demand for the beds and lockers produced by the Tag Plant. A by-product of the growth is the training and utilization of more offenders within the operation. With a minor revamping during the 1981-82 fiscal year, the Tag Plant's production of license plates was increased by 13,000 per day, from 8000 to a maximum of 21,000 with an average of 12,000 per day. Additional equipment was purchased for the Tag Plant which now has the capability to produce graphic plates, now being used by many states instead of the standard reflective plates. Located within the Tag Plant is a machine shop which manufactures various metal parts to repair and upgrade equipment throughout all Agri-Business farming and industry operations, as well as for Louisiana State Penitentiary.

The MATTRESS FACTORY at Louisiana State Penitentiary employs 26 offenders in the production of mattresses, brooms and mops. This manufacturing operation produces both heavy and lightweight mops and warehouse brooms for sale to state, parish and municipal agencies. One of the highlights of the 1981-82 fiscal year was instituting a double shift in order to meet the mattress demands of the various customers around the state. A prime example, in January of 1982, the Orleans Parish Prison, as a result of a court order to ease overcrowding, needed 1000 mattresses immediately. The increased production ability of the Agri-Business Mattress Factory was demostrated when this large order was filled within a three-day period. The Mattress Factory produces mattresses by using either a cotton filler or a boric-acid-treated cotton filler which is covered with a fire-retardent material (staph check). Equipment to expand operations to include the manufacture of innerspring mattresses was destroyed in the July, 1982 fire at the Mattress Factory, but has since been re-purchased. This industry has returned to full operational capacity. In Fiscal Year 1981-82, this enterprise produced and sold more than 6000 brooms, 9000 mops, 8000 mattresses and 2500 pillows.

*Subsequent to the period covered in this report, Act 59 of the 1983 Special Session abolished the Office of Agri-Business and its revolving-fund operation. The agricultural and industrial operations, now called Prison Enterprises, are under the direct supervision of the Secretary of Corrections.

The GARMENT FACTORY is divided into two separate operations at two institutions, Louisiana Correctional Institute for Women at St. Gabriel and Louisiana Correctional and Industrial School at DeQuincy. Garment manufacturing began at the women's prison in the 1950's and was expanded to DeQuincy in 1978 when the Department of Corrections' demands for clothing exceeded production capacity. The two garment manufacturing plants are now specialized with about 70 men at DeQuincy producing heavyweight garments, such as jeans, jackets and jumpsuits, and 57 women at St. Gabriel producing primarily lightweight items such as towels, sheets, washcloths, pillowcases and shirts. At both factories, large lots of fabrics are purchased and cut for production in an assembly line. The focus of the '81-'82 fiscal year was on improving the efficiency of the whole enterprise by consolidation and streamlining operations. In addition, since these two garment manufacturing operations produce the bulk of the clothes worn by the more than 10,000 adult and juvenile offenders within Department of Corrections' facilities, as well as city and parish jails throughout the state, efforts are currently underway to standardize the system-wide dress code and, thereby, further streamline the product line and necessary fabric inventory.

The CHEMICAL PLANT is a relatively new operation at Hunt Correctional Center at St. Gabriel, where 20 men manufacture soap and various janitorial supplies such as bleaches and liquid cleaners. This plant is the outgrowth of one of the state's oldest prison industries which started as merely a soap manufacturing plant at Angola in the 1950's. As a result, an extensive product line was developed over the years with the help of professional consultants and chemists. Twenty-two different products are currently manufactured at the Chemical Plant.

The SILK SCREEN SHOP, located at Louisiana State Penitentiary, employs 11 men in the production of signs and decals used for identification or communicating a message. One of the biggest items, purchased by the various state, parish and municipal agencies, is the seal or decal that is used to mark vehicles. In addition, many cities and parishes purchase their street signs, and its accompanying hardware from this shop.

During the '81-'82 fiscal year, new camera and processing equipment was purchased and installed to expand the product capabilities of this operation in which inks are screened onto either reflective or non-reflective materials. This shop was also destroyed in the July, 1982 fire, but plans are underway to rebuild the Silk Screen Shop and purchase new equipment which will enable the workers to surpass the quality and diversification of the previous product line.

The PLASTIC SIGN SHOP is a small operation, located within the Garment Factory at St. Gabriel. Two women are employed to produce a variety of signs, identification tags, nameplates and similar products which can be made by engraving plastic or metal. Plans currently involve moving this production unit to Angola and consolidating it with the Silk Screen Shop, thereby establishing one operation at one location for the manufacture of all signs and visual aids required by various tax-supported agencies throughout the state.

The DENTAL LABORATORY employed seven Louisiana State Penitentiary offenders prior to its destruction by fire shortly after the close of the 1981-82 fiscal year. The lab produced either full or partial dentures from impressions sent in from the various Department of Corrections' facilities. A feasibility study is currently in progress to evaluate the cost effectiveness of rebuilding and continuing operation of the Dental Lab versus purchasing needed dentures from private providers.

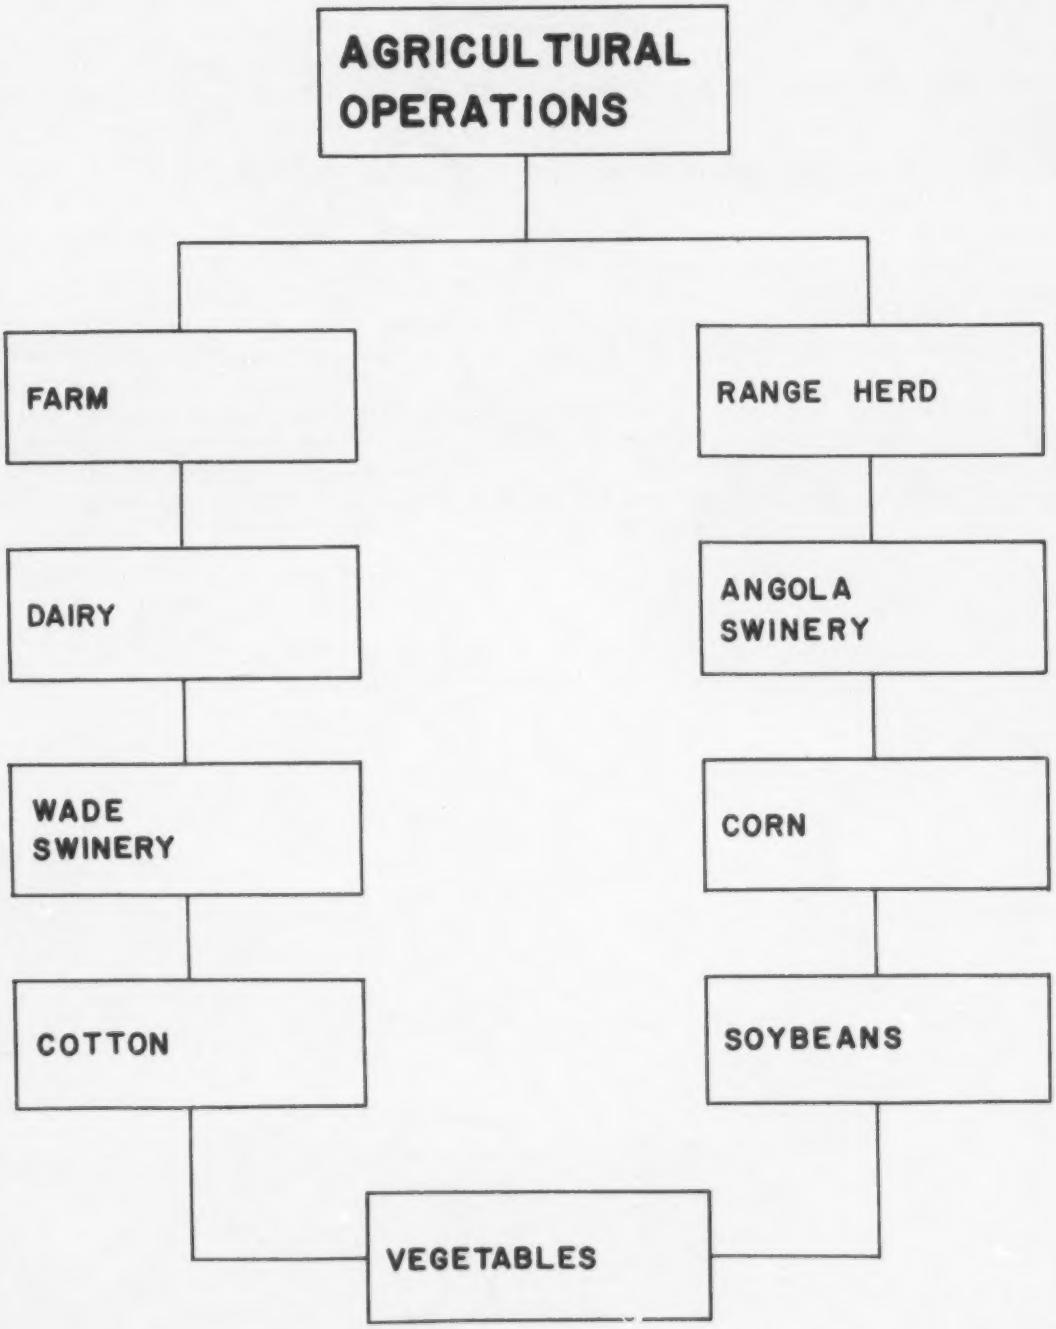
The CANNERY at Angola was closed during 1980 because of cost ineffectiveness; however, sales of canned goods inventories continued throughout the '81-'82 fiscal year. The fire, shortly after the end of the fiscal year, destroyed all of the remaining stock and terminated all further Cannery activity.

The FOOD DISTRIBUTION CENTER is a warehousing operation, located at Angola, for procuring and distributing products for all of the Inmate Canteens at Department of Corrections' institutions. This operation involves ordering and stocking desired snacks and personal items which are then delivered by Agri-Business trucks to the Inmate Canteens throughout the state.

The COMMISSARY, GAS STATION and DRY CLEANERS are located at Angola to provide services for Louisiana State Penitentiary personnel. Because of the remoteness of the prison, it was determined that these personal service operations were vital for the personnel who live on the institutional grounds.

The ABATTOIR, located in Wakefield near Dixon Correctional Institute, employs about 35 offenders in the slaughtering and processing of beef and pork. A joint venture between the Office of Agri-Business and Folks Vocational-Technical School, the Abattoir provides the opportunity for the offenders working there to receive a diploma which certifies their skills in slaughtering and processing. In addition to providing the offenders with a highly marketable skill, the Abattoir serves as a service center and distribution point for the Office of Agri-Business to supply meat to Department of Corrections' institutions.

OFFICE OF AGRI-BUSINESS



FARMING

The Office of Agri-Business' farming operations are divided into two broad areas, livestock and row crops. During the 1981-82 fiscal year, approximately 10,000 acres of Department of Corrections' land were utilized in agricultural operations.

The row crops include various vegetables for consumption within the Department--cotton, wheat and soybean crops which are sold on the open market; and corn, which is used for feeding livestock. Although acreage varies from year to year, the following 1981-82 fiscal year breakdown is fairly representative.

Louisiana State Penitentiary:	2930 acres of soybeans
	730 acres of cotton
	603 acres of corn
	503 acres of wheat
	300 acres of vegetables
Hunt Correctional Center:	140 acres of soybeans
	70 acres of wheat
Dixon Correctional Center:	800 acres of corn

The livestock operations consist of beef, pork and milk production. During the 1981-82 fiscal year, the cattle herd was approximately 2600 head and the swine herd around 2060. The breakdown of livestock for the 1981-82 fiscal year, by institution, was as follows:

Louisiana State Penitenitary:	1097 Beef cattle (this does not include dairy cattle)
	1120 Swine
Dixon Correctional Institute:	520 Beef cattle
Louisiana Training Institute: (Baton Rouge)	225 Beef cattle
Hunt Correctional Center:	770 Beef cattle
Wade Correctional Center:	940 Swine

The dairy, located at Angola, consisted of approximately 220 head of dairy cows. Milk production ranges from 375 gallons per day during the summer to 500 gallons per day during the winter. This dairy operation is sufficient to satisfy the milk needs of the population of Louisiana State Penitentiary.

The 1981-82 fiscal year objective of revamping the farming operations into more productive units is being carried forward with continued initiation of more of the cost-effective techniques of good management, continued close monitoring of equipment purchases and repairs, and continued monitoring of new developments in the agricultural field. The objective, as determined by the Corrections Agri-Business Board when it began work in December of 1981, was to manage Louisiana's prison farming operations in accordance with successful farming practice while increasing rehabilitation opportunities for the offenders.

During the 1981-82 fiscal year, approximately 40 offenders were utilized in the various Agri-Business farming operations throughout the year. However, about 800 additional offenders are utilized seasonally for weed control, harvest and post harvest clean-up.

BOARDS

BOARDS

The Department of Corrections has three independent boards that function within its jurisdiction but report directly to the Governor. They are the Board of Pardons, the Board of Parole and the Corrections Agri-Business Board.* The members of these independent boards are appointed by the Governor and serve terms concurrent with his. The Secretary of Corrections has no authority or responsibility with regard to the Pardon and Parole boards, other than budgetary interaction through the Office of Management and Finance.

The BOARD OF PARDONS was established under the new Constitution of the State of Louisiana, which became effective January 1, 1975. Requests for commutations of sentence or for full pardon are submitted by the applicants or by their legal representatives. Under the discretionary powers outlined in their rules, the members of the Pardon Board may deny a hearing on an application based on prematurity, poor conduct or past criminal record, among other things. Thirty days advance notices of the date and time of a hearing are given the applicant, his legal representative, if any, and the District Attorney and Sheriff of each area where the alleged offense occurred. Records and information submitted by the various offices of the Department of Corrections and law enforcement officials, court records and correspondence for the applicant and/or the public are combined into a synopsis sheet on each application.

Each of the five board members, assigned cases in rotation, is responsible for presenting the facts of his assigned cases to the full board to review.

Cases are scheduled for hearing in the order in which the applications are received. Hearings are held on Tuesdays and Wednesdays of the second, third and fourth weeks of each month and are open to the public. Applicants seeking full pardon are expected to appear in their own behalf since they are not incarcerated, and applicants for commutation of sentence appear only under certain circumstances because of the security factor.

If an applicant's request is denied, he or she is generally notified within 21 days after the hearing. If the Board requires additional information before rendering a decision, that case is taken under advisement pending the receipt of a clemency investigation report from the Division of Probation and Parole.

If a favorable decision is reached by a majority of the members of the Board in any case, that recommendation is forwarded to the Governor, together with the applicant's entire file. Once a case is sent to the Governor, the Pardon Board has no further jurisdiction, and it is for the Governor to decide whether he will approve the recommendation or deny it.

*Subsequent to the period covered in this report, Act 59 of the 1983 Special Session abolished this board and created an advisory board called the Prison Enterprises Board.

The BOARD OF PAROLE consists of five members. As is the case with the Pardon Board, being a member of the Board of Parole is a full-time state job and board members may not hold another public office or engage in private business which conflicts with board duties.

The Board of Parole automatically holds hearings for each offender in a state institution, within one month prior to the expiration of one-third of his sentence. However, offenders who are serving their sentence in local institutions must apply for a parole hearing. Additionally, first offenders with less than a 5-year sentence may be given a hearing for special parole at any regularly scheduled board meeting; and in this case, the sentencing judge and district attorney must be given notice of the hearing.

The Parole Board is also responsible for granting work release status to offenders who are within six months of their release date and who are otherwise eligible for this status according to Department of Corrections regulations. In addition, the board is responsible for conducting parole revocation hearings for parolees who are reported to be violating the conditions of their parole.

Hearings are held by the Parole Board eleven times each month. The board bases its decisions on departmental records, community and law enforcement information, criminal records, and--in the case of granting parole--on the offender's residence and employment plan. Unlike the Pardon Board, the Parole Board has the full and final authority with regard to its decisions.

Created by Act 633 of the 1981 Legislature, the CORRECTIONS AGRI-BUSINESS BOARD is composed of seven (7) members. The three ex-officio members with full voting rights are the Secretary of Corrections, the Undersecretary of Corrections and the Assistant Secretary for the Office of Agri-Business. Each of the four other members is appointed by the Governor for his expertise in farm management, forest management, manufacturing or livestock management.

The Agri-Business Board is the policy-making body for the agri-business program carried out by the Department of Corrections as an aid to rehabilitate offenders. The board meets once per month to establish policies and plans for the agri-business programs within the corrections system.

All industry and agricultural operations at the various institutions fall within the jurisdiction of the Agri-Business Board. The industry operations include the chemical plant, garment factories, silk screen shop, metal fabrication shop, the food distribution center, the abattoir and the mattress, broom and mop factory. The agricultural operations include the range herd, the swinery, dairy, cotton crop, corn crop, soybean crop and the vegetable crops.

*Subsequent to the period covered in this report, Act 59 of the 1983 Special Session abolished this board and created an advisory board called the Prison Enterprises Board.

BOARD OF PARDONS

The Board of Pardons holds hearings not only on complete pardons, but also on commutations of sentences, restoration of voting rights, restoration of the right to carry firearms, and restoration of driving privileges. A denial by the Pardon Board is final; however, a recommendation by the Board means that the application is forwarded to the Governor. The final authority on all pardon applications is the Governor.

BOARD OF PAROLE

An adult offender who has served one-third of his sentence is automatically eligible for a parole hearing. As the following chart indicates, half of the parole applications are denied, and some offenders choose not to pursue their automatic application for parole. The Parole Board also holds hearings on possible revocations of parole and decides to either continue the parole supervision or revoke it and send the parolee back to prison.
